

Digital Canvas — Partner Alignment

Internal working doc for DevSA, Alamo Angels, and 434 Media. Aligns roles, value flow, and v1 scope before cohort 1 launches.

Thesis

San Antonio has the talent, the verticals, and the capital — but no program layer connecting them. Digital Canvas is that layer: AI-native cohorts running against industry-authored pain points, ending in demo days to the Alamo Angels network.

We are not building YC. We are connecting two pipelines that already exist — DevSA's community and Alamo Angels' investor base — with an underwriter-funded program in between.

Five-way value loop

Stakeholder	Gives	Gets
Builders	Time, commitment to demo	Free workshop, AI-tool fluency, space, warm investor intros
Underwriters	Cohort funding	Named vertical, talent pipeline, first-look, branded media
Angels / Investors	Demo day attendance	Pre-curated dealflow, no sourcing cost
DevSA	Workshop hosting, audience reach, space	Program content fits mission, sponsor visibility, ecosystem leadership
434 Media	Operations, media, underwriter sales	Program ownership, media deliverables, ecosystem positioning

If any column stops earning, the loop breaks. Test each one quarterly.

Partner roles

DevSA

- Hosts workshop weekend at a partner venue
- Promotes cohorts through DevSA social channels and shared community calendar
- Opens downtown coworking space to committed cohort for the six-week bridge
- Wraps program in existing "find your people, build your future" message

Alamo Angels

- Provides pitch coaching session in bridge week 4
- Convenes investor audience for demo day
- Continues post-demo conversations through standard rolling application path

434 Media / Marcos Resendez

- Recruits and closes cohort underwriters

- Coordinates operations across partners
 - Produces media (recap, builder profiles, demo footage)
 - Owns Digital Canvas brand and entity

Cadence (v1 target)

- Cohorts per year: 2–3 (allows underwriter recruitment runway between)
 - Workshop: 1 weekend
 - Bridge: 6 weeks
 - Demo day: 1 evening
 - Total cohort window: ~7 weeks active, 2–3 weeks recovery / next-cohort prep

Money flow

To be ratified before cohort 1:

- Underwriter check lands with: _____ (TBD — likely 434 Media as program operator)
- DevSA receives: _____ (space + audience contribution — flat fee or rev share)
- Alamo Angels receives: _____ (pitch coaching contribution — flat fee or in-kind)
- 434 Media retains: _____ (operations, media, sales overhead)

A simple flat-allocation model is preferable to rev share in v1 — keeps incentives clean and reporting light.

v1 scope (what's in)

- One cohort, one vertical (cyber or military recommended for SA fit + underwriter density)
- Free workshop + 6-week bridge + demo day
- Pitch coaching, sponsor office hour, investor social
- Media recap

v1 scope (what's out — explicitly deferred)

- Bounty program / localized Upwork (post-cohort-3 at earliest)
 - Multi-vertical concurrent cohorts
 - Paid consultancy sales motion (can be inbound-only for v1, not a structured outbound)
 - International or out-of-SA expansion

Cohort 1 success metrics

Set the bar low enough to learn, high enough to matter:

- 8–12 committed builders make it to demo day
 - ≥1 investor-builder follow-up conversation per builder, on average
 - ≥1 underwriter renews or refers for cohort 2
 - Net Promoter from builders ≥ 8/10
 - Media assets delivered to underwriter on time

Decision points needing alignment before launch

1. Which vertical for cohort 1? (Cyber leads on underwriter density; military leads on SA distinctiveness)

2. Underwriter price band and what's included
 3. Money flow allocation (above)
 4. Who is Marcos's #2 by cohort 3 to de-risk key-person dependency
 5. Workshop dates, demo day date, and underwriter close deadline
 6. Brand ownership: who registers the Digital Canvas entity and IP

Key-person note

Marcos bridges 434, Alamo Angels (board), and underwriter recruitment. For v1, this is a feature — single point of accountability. By cohort 3, identify a #2 with relationship continuity into both Angels and underwriter conversations.
